

Fly kites far away from power lines. Electricity always finds the quickest way to the ground, which could be down a kite string if it touches the power line.

